Congratulations to all Q4 DAISY Award Nominees!

Catherine Mahoney, RN – Emergency Department

My daughter fell and broke her arm and came to the ER. I cannot begin to describe the kind and considerate patient care she received.

Catherine's very presence was so reassuring. She was professional at all times and made it a point to explain what was happening every step of the way. She repeatedly fixed her pillows and answered endless questions. She never talked down to my daughter or spoke in too technical terms. She preserved her modesty, she is at that age.

Since that night, my daughter has mentioned Catherine and said how much she liked her nurse that night. I offered to write a note, she said she was just doing her job. Humble as well.

Jerry Belotti, RN – Cardiac Progressive Care

Jerry looks like a "tough guy" but his touch was always gentle. First, he asked me if I would mind if he helped me clean up. He helped me with my bath and made sure my modesty was always honored. He got me warm blankets and clean socks quick. I was so depressed because I couldn't take care of myself like before - I will have to stay with my daughter now. He gave my mood a boost and made me feel like I would be okay.

I want to say thank you from the bottom of my heart to Jerry, my gentle nurse.

Maudria Reid-Allen, RN – Adult Intensive Care

After my father had spent approximately two weeks in AIC and after a 2nd full-blown surgery to remove his blood clot, I was completely frazzled. In walked my Jamaican angel, Maudria Reid-Allen. With luminescent brown eyes and an equally brilliant smile, Maudria said, "go home and sleep. I'll take care of papa."

Although there's not one specific incident to relate, it's the sense of calm, confidence and compassion that she instills every time she walks in the room. I can sleep at night when Maudria is "taking care of papa."
