Clinical Trial Coverage for Members Enrolled in a Medicare Plan

MPM 3.8

Disclaimer
Refer to the member’s specific benefit plan and Schedule of Benefits to determine coverage. This may not be a benefit on all plans or the plan may have broader or more limited benefits than those listed in this Medical Policy.

Description
A clinical trial is a research study or protocol designed to test the safety and/or effectiveness of experimental drugs, devices or treatments in humans. This Medical Policy only applies to members enrolled in a Medicare plan.

Related Medical Policy:
Cancer Clinical Trials, Routine Patient Care Costs, MPM 3.7. (This policy is applicable for group health coverage, including self-insured, and State Coverage Insurance.)

Coverage Determination
Prior Authorization is required. Log on to Pres Online to submit a request: https://ds.phs.org/preslogin/index.jsp

Clinical trials must meet qualifying criteria in order to receive Medicare coverage of routine cost. See CMS NCD 310.1 for information on the qualifying process for clinical trials.

For Medicare beneficiaries enrolled in a managed care plan: Your managed care plan will not be responsible for payment of a clinical trial. Original Medicare will be the payer for clinical trial services. Medicare will cover routine health care costs for people with Medicare involved in a clinical trial. Medicare will also pay for standard costs including hospital and physician visits, routine lab tests, as well as those costs that are due to medical problems as a result of being part of a clinical trial. In most cases, Medicare doesn’t pay for the experimental item being investigated.

For Medicare beneficiaries enrolled in a Medigap plan: If you have a Medigap policy, and your routine costs are covered by Original Medicare while in a clinical trial, then your Medigap policy must pay the coinsurance amounts for those costs.

For providers: Clinical trial services are to be processed as though the services were rendered to a Medicare Fee-For-Service (FFS) patient. Medicare guidelines must be followed.
